MEET OUR STUDENT JUROR

CATIE COOK

About the Artist

Catie Cook is a Gainesville native who graduated from Gainesville High School in 2019. She has a long history with the Quinlan Visual Arts Center attending youth art camps in the summer, and coming to view exhibitions growing up. In 2019, Catie participated in the Charles J. Thurman Youth Art Month, where she was awarded Best in show, and a nomination for the American Society of Marine Artists for her work "Plunge." Catie was also fortunate enough to receive the Quinlan Visual Arts Center 2019 Youth Art month "Rising Star, Artist of Tomorrow" award. She is incredibly grateful for these scholarships and experiences which have shaped her path as an artist.

Catie is currently a second year undergraduate student at the University Of Georgia studying Studio art with an emphasis in painting, art history, and museum studies. At the University of Georgia, Catie serves as an ambassador for the Lamar Dodd School of Art. She is also active in the Guide Dog Foundation, and with the education and outreach team at the State Botanical Gardens. Most notably, this year Catie received the Vince Dooley scholarship for her achievements at the school of art.
