FINE ART AUCTION

Patricio Marín

Patricio Marín is a Nicaraguan painter from Susucayan, Nueva Segovia. After high school, while searching for direction, he took the suggestion of his mother and priest and left Nicaragua to take a drawing and painting course at the School of Fine Arts in Tegucigalpa, Honduras. While there, Marín found himself at home immersed in color and pigments. In 2000, he returned to Nicaragua to dedicate his life to painting.

Since then, Marín has painted landscapes using lithographic ink in the “style of Bob Ross” and his technique has evolved to oil on canvas and aluminum panel in a hyper realistic style.

“Soy un copiadador de la realidad, mi intención es tomar fragmentos de la belleza y guardarlos en un lienzo.”

“I replicate reality with my works, and my intention is to take fragments of the world’s natural beauty and record them on canvas.”

Marín has exhibited his work in Nicaragua, Honduras, England and The United States.
