RULES AND REGULATIONS

Eligibility

This is an open opportunity for fine craft artists. Limited spaces available per category. Eligible artists will be selected on a first come, first served basis. The Quinlan reserves the right to not accept any art presented.

Image Requirements

Artists must submit digital images of a sample of art work and/or booth space to be presented for acceptance. Hard copies of photographs will not be accepted. Email to info@qvac.org or mail a CD to the Quinlan.

Media Release

The Quinlan reserves the right to photograph or film artist, booth space, and artwork for publicity purposes and for reproduction in relevant publications and website without compensation. Artist hereby grants permission for resulting promotional photographs and/or video footage of artist speaking, demonstrating, displaying or creating work as well as resulting art work in any location of the building to be used for promotional purposes or any media deemed appropriate by the Board of Trustees.

Sale of Artwork

All sales will be run through the Quinlan and a 7% sales tax will be applied. Artists will be paid 70% of total sales (the Quinlan will retain 30%). Please allow up to 5 business days for commission processing.

Artist Booth Space

The fine craft market will be inside the main level of the Quinlan for two days, Saturday, December 6, (11 AM - 4 PM) and Sunday, December 7 (1 PM - 7 PM). Set-up either Friday afternoon before 2PM or Saturday at 10 AM. Artists will need to be set up by 11 AM Sat. Dec. 6. Each artist will given a 6 foot OR 60' round table. You may bring your own tables, displays, screens or shelving- that you choose. Nothing larger than 10 feet in any direction. The Quinlan will provide free holiday gift bags for patrons and gift wrap services. Any artwork that is unclaimed after the market will become the property of the Quinlan Visual Arts Center. Artists are responsible for recording their own inventory and sales records.
