PARTICIPATING ARTIST

RAE BROYLES

I am a painter. An artist. An author of visual poetry. There is no alternative. Color, texture, tactile adventures move me. I must freely discover new images, diabolical and vexing techniques and ways of presenting beauty while I fall away from this world and into a realm of physical and mental reverie.

My newest pieces with combinations of video, painting, music and choreography or poetry are the beginnings of my life's work; the integration of multiple mediums necessary to express life's complex beauty. Merge.

I studied at Rhode Island School of Design with other painters and creatives that had a parallel vision of using their gift to express themselves. I have continued and will continue to study ad quietus. True artistry is a constant progression.
